

Flying Heritage Collection Aircraft to Fly at 2007 Arlington Fly-In

Arlington, Washington ---(April 14, 2007) – The Flying Heritage Collection, featuring rare World War I and World War II planes acquired by Paul Allen, and restored to flying condition will fly the Curtiss JN-4D Jenny , the Republic P-47D Thunderbolt and the P-51 Mustang during the weekend Airshows at the Arlington Fly-In July 14th & 15th.

The Flying Heritage Collection's painstaking process of restoring its aircraft sets them apart from all other aviation artifacts, each restored to a level of authenticity never attempted before.

“We are pleased to welcome the Flying Heritage Collection back to this year’s Arlington EAA Fly-In,” said Barbara Tolbert, Northwest EAA Executive Director. “These rare and beautifully restored airplanes will be a popular draw not only because of their significance to aviation history, but also because of the remarkable quality of the restorations that have taken place.”

The full collection will be available for tours to attendees at the Arlington Fly-In for ½ price. Tours can be purchased at the FHC building, catch the tour bus in the Warbird area of the Fly-In.

Tours are available Thursday, Friday & Saturday from 10 AM to 3 PM and Sunday from 10 AM to 1 PM. For more information on the collection visit www.flyingheritage.com
